

Dr. Talukder Farid Ahmad PhD

*Chairman and Chief Executive Officer
Talukder Group of Companies (TGOC)*

Dr. Talukder Farid Ahmad started his career from a humble beginning in the year 2000. Building a sustainable business was Dr. Talukder's life-long Dream - which will one day play an active and pivotal role both in the community socially and through active business participation locally and internationally.

As a youth, Dr. Talukder has been an extremely charismatic and an active individual. His continuous search for a perfect Bangladesh - that one-day can eradicate hunger is stemmed from birth, and is a constant burning desire, which provides him insurmountable Drive that keeps him energized and constantly active.

He is a social reformer, thinker, mentor, dedicated husband, father, and an intellectual in his own rights. His business and social ideas are groundbreaking, which is leaving a trail behind as he pushes forward fast to fulfill his ultimate Dream – Putting Bangladesh Businesses on the Global Map. He's accolades are by far too many to list.

His way of thinking is totally revolutionary and infectious to whomever he interacts with both personally and in a business environment. His 100% laser focus in the right direction embodies exactly what he believes and pushes forward; his business thinking and industry foresight in Bangladesh gives him the edge.

Simply a person un-equaled in his industry and has this unique way of conducting business that ultimately still stays true to its original vision.

Dr. Talukder's abundance energy and tenacity to give back to the community is an important aspect of his personality. His aspiration has always been to develop the nation. Since graduating with a PhD in e-learning from the American World University (AWU) he has tirelessly worked to realize his Dream.

Dr. Talukder pursued his PhD in online e-learning on the basis that “ you can learn from anywhere” This motto lead him to complete and design a On-Line e-learning system and is now currently months away from launching an e-learning platform in association with an American multi-national educational institution.

Dr. Talukder is a well-travelled individual and has participated in social and business forums from around the World. His ideas' and thoughts can change the way we live and think in Bangladesh. Dr. Talukder's famous saying “ It takes a community of dedicated thinkers and contributors to make change” and also “ together we are a pillar of strength” slogan has lead Dr. Talukder to form a consortium of around 50 members to target corporations and fortune 100 clients from the USA collectively by utilizing our consortium strength together.

These forms of thinking and ideas are a game changing strategies say's Dr. Talukder - who actively encourages all his employees and partner alike to form strong bond with communities, social programs and innovative businesses. This he says is of significant importance and the secret of the strength in his business and social program's locally and internationally.

Asked what is his key to success " and instantly says "energy, motivation and knowledge" and says – we Bengalis should travel more for ideas and not just for migration. We are years behind developed countries but my firm believe is if - we as business community can have a concerted effort together – we may be able to lead technological changes here and abroad.

What ever Dr. Talukder commits too has two aims first and foremost a business as a profit center and second social programs that this business entity can fund out of its profit center. Therefore every venture he involves himself into has the social element embedded.

Dr. Talukder is a dynamic and a charitable individual who sees that businesses plays a vital role in building Bangladesh. All his businesses are funding and contributing to some aspects of social program. One of his interview questions is when recruiting talents " what will you do socially?"

In a brief Dr. Talukder's aims and objectives are crystal clear backed by decades of studies, successful businesses and social program's. He is well placed to take TGOC to the next level and beyond. His vision and goals are aligned to successfully achieve what he started out to become.
